Hello!

My name is José, I am 22 years old. I am currently looking to study to improve my qualifications. I have done various types of work throughout my life so far that has contributed towards developing me as the person I am today. I am motivated to develop my skills as well as my experience and to achieve and develop a truly worthwhile career. I have a passion for working with people, technology and challenging myself. I am working on extending my list of qualifications. If given an opportunity I have confidence that I will show outstanding results.

A career with the company is a challenging test of character, which requires people with determination, creativity and the ability to add value to the organization. For that drive, dedication, responsibility, and maturity are all important Attributes. To expand your organization, you need people who have the potential to succeed, and I believe I am one of them. I am a hard worker as well as a logical thinker, I am able to face challenges that may arise. I consider myself flexible and able to respond positively to change. I have handled myself exemplarily during periods under pressure and am confident to work on my own as well as in a team.

I am confident in my capabilities, skills and desire to learn, ambitious to become even better; all of which qualify me as a suitable candidate.

Kind regards
Jose Jardim
